

ASSIGNMENT TRACKER

Tips to fill out your tracker.

1. Gather info: List all your courses, upcoming exams, and assignment due dates from syllabi or class schedules.
2. Set priorities:
 - a. Mark high-priority tasks like finals, big projects, and those with a great impact to your final grade percentage.
 - i. 1=Top priority
 - ii. 2=Medium priority
 - iii. 3=Low priority
 - b. Spread out the work load time across the days or weeks.
 - c. You can use the following matrix to set your priorities:

Extra suggestions:

- Build in breaks: Reserve at least 1–2 hours daily for rest or fun, and 1 full day per week for recharge (e.g., Saturday).
- Adjust weekly: At the end of each week, review progress, add some reflections, and tweak the next week's plan.
- Employ digital tools or apps for managing time and sticking to your plan.
- Explore various study methods for effectiveness.
- Can't print or edit the planner? Try to recreate in paper, Canva or a google sheet. The main thing is to put your priorities down and track their progress :)
